14th April 2022: Edition No 356

We acknowledge and respect the traditional custodians of this land: the Darug and Gundungurra people.

A message from the President.....

One of the few fine days we enjoyed last month was spent in the garden surveying the result of the big wet. As I tried to make sense of the amount of growth, I took time to welcome the sun on my back and to remember how much I had missed the pleasure of gardening. However, reality struck when noticing that a bank of 12 port wine magnolias near the nature strip had grown well above the phone and power lines of the house. Several hours later, there was a mountain of refuse to dispose of, and it's still sitting there waiting to be cut and bundled into the required lengths for a BMCC waste service scheduled for May 3. Let's hope there'll be another "fine day" to enjoy the bruises, cuts, dirty nails, sore muscles, and grubby knees that we gardeners proudly display after a job well done. I'm betting I'm not alone in all this!

As President, I recently attended a Garden Clubs of Australia Zone meeting at the Rhododendron Society Hall in Blackheath and the following news might concern or surprise some members. Sadly, the Herb Group, that Jaquie Anstis was vitally involved in, has closed for good. Kurrajong Heights GC has increased its membership within a very short time from 40 to 108 members with our April speaker, Peta Trahar, now the President. The members have endured a certain amount of flood damage and inconvenience of late but this club continues to offer worthwhile events to maintain momentum. Central Blue Mountains GC recently invited chemical engineer Gary Kimble to give a talk on how to deal with green waste. Some of you may already know about the corn-starch bags that allow waste to break down for eventual distribution onto the garden. We are all into composting, using bio-degradable products and phasing out plastic/gladwrap. We all want to make positive changes to help the planet by choosing eco-friendly products and there are quite a few available to assist us- eco-friendly ground composting systems; let's get rid of those plastic pots and use biodegradable peat paper pulp pots instead; no waste organic garden solutions enable us to re-propagate leftover greens, stalks and kitchen scraps like avocado seeds, carrots, and apple cores into viable and edible produce. There's a fun book about it- No Waste Kitchen Gardening by Katie Elzer-Peters. Through illustrations followed by explanations she gives an easy, hands-on, step by step description of how to grow scrap food-waste successfully and to get the children involved too...all in the name of sustainable living! Let's give it the thumbs up and inspire others by exchanging views and talking about our progress at general meetings.

TODAY'S SPEAKER IS PETA TREHAR

Peta Trahar was raised in Tasmania, lived in Mosman in Sydney and now calls Woodgreen Angus Stud, at Bilpin, home. Peta is a graduate of Ryde School of Horticulture. Her experience includes working as a landscape lecturer, writer, garden judge and selector for Australia's Open Garden Scheme, now closed. Her career as a landscape designer has given focus to the development of her nursery, Town and Country Gardens. Time is now spent propagating and selling her interesting plants. Past memberships include the Australian Institute of Horticulture and the Australian Institute of Landscape Designers and Managers. Peta was the co-founder of the highly successful Collectors' Plant Fair. In 2005, together with Beth Stokes, Peta was awarded NSW Horticulturist of the Year and the National Award of Excellence "for promoting horticulture, particularly the use and conservation of rare and unusual plants through the organisation of the Collectors' Plant Fair."

ALL Executive and Committee positions become vacant at the AGM in July 2022. All positions are open for nomination.

If you would like to contribute further to the effective administration of the club, you are invited to nominate for either an Executive or Committee position. The Committee members meet once a month to review and discuss the operation of the club, future functions, speakers, finance and how we can best serve the members of the club. We invite you to consider how you could join the Committee and help your club.

Please see Gai or Henry for a nomination form, or any enquiries.
