We acknowledge and respect the traditional custodians of this land: the Darug and Gundungurra people.

A message from the President.....

As a group we are fortunate to have access to great speakers from all sections of the gardening world. One of my favourites was August speaker Peter Hey, 'Symbiotic Relations- Plants and Fungi'. During his lecture he recommended the book "Entangled Life" by Merlin Sheldrake. It's in WFGC library and makes utterly fascinating reading. Who would have thought that humble fungi have been serving us for millions of years and has a relationship with plants where it colonises the root system of host plants and provides the plant with nutrients while the host provides the fungi with carbohydrates and phosphorus. King Charles III was thought strange when he revealed he talks to his plants and they respond. It seems he is not alone in this. New Scientist magazine August 2022 has an article, "The inner mind of plants" in which plants respond to certain outside stimuli in much the same way as a conscious individual might respond. There is much to ponder in the natural world especially with plants that seem to operate in ways that we humans find strange and unbelievable. Have you had a plant that seems to sulk, or one that thrives where it shouldn't, or a climbing plant that finds support metres from its root system? This article asks us to ".....slow down and get closer to a plant's different timescales." Slime moulds, mentioned in "Entangled Life", certainly give the impression there is more to the life of plants and fungi than we mortals realise.

Time is running out to register your interest in the Christmas Lunch, December 8th at Katoomba RSL. November General Meeting is the final date for cash payments. I hope you'll join us and make this a really joyous occasion. There'll be other activities between courses, so do come along and help bring 2022 to a festive end.

See you at the November GM along with a flower from your garden.

Today's Speaker is Peta Trahar

Peta Trahar was raised in Tasmania, lived in Mosman in Sydney and now calls Woodgreen Angus Stud, at Bilpin, home. Peta is a graduate of Ryde School of Horticulture. Her experience includes working as a landscape lecturer, writer, garden judge and selector for Australia's Open Garden Scheme, now closed. Her career as a landscape designer has given focus to the development of her nursery, Town and Country Gardens. Time is now spent propagating and selling her interesting plants. Past memberships include the Australian Institute of Horticulture and the Australian Institute of Landscape Designers and Managers. Her garden is a wide collection of unusual plants displayed with an eye to colour and texture. The garden has featured on ABC's Gardening Australia and Channel Seven's Better Homes and Gardens as well as in several gardening magazines. They include Your Gardens, Better Homes and Gardens, The Garden Clinic Magazine and the ABC Garden Magazine.

Peta was the co-founder of the highly successful Collectors' Plant Fair. In 2005, together with Beth Stokes, Peta was awarded NSW Horticulturist of the Year and the National Award of Excellence "for promoting horticulture, particularly the use and conservation of rare and unusual plants through the organisation of the Collectors' Plant Fair."

Peta is currently president of the Kurrajong Heights Garden Club.
